SAFETY MOMENT

CYBERSECURITY PHISHING

Cyber actors have conducted increasingly impactful attacks against U.S. entities on or around holiday weekends over the last several months. Cyber criminals, however, may view holidays and weekends—especially holiday weekends—as attractive timeframes in which to target potential victims, including small and large businesses.

What are common indicators of phishing attempts?

- Suspicious sender's address – look for altered or omitted characters
- Generic greeting and signature – Ex: "Dear Valued Customer"
- Spoofed hyperlinks and websites – spelling variations in hyperlinks
- Spelling and layout – poor grammar and sentence structure
- Suspicious attachments – DO NOT OPEN!!!!

Increase in phishing email is expected with holiday shopping and holiday travel season coming up.
